

D-LINK AUSTRALIA ANNOUNCES
ENGINEER CERTIFICATION TRAINING

Brisbane – Melbourne – Sydney – Christchurch (NZ)

- Offering network professionals knowledge to design & implement end-to-end solutions.
- Channel partners to greatly benefit from course.
- Aimed to achieve the highest level of technical knowledge across a broad range of internetworking-related technologies.

Sydney and Auckland, July 28 , 2005— D-Link, a global leader in the design, development, and manufacturing of networking, broadband, wireless, and communications technologies for the SOHO, SMB and enterprise markets,, today announced that the engineering certification training called the “D-Link Certified Engineer” (DCE) training course, will be conducted across the country in August 2005.

The DCE course forms part of the D-Link Academy suite of courses that are designed to introduce, enhance and maintain valuable skill sets that are required in the IT industry.

The DCE training is a 2 day intensive training course that encompasses the very basics of networking, taking the student through a series of simple modules, right through to some very advanced and interesting topics. These modules also include Wireless, Broadband, Routers, and TCP/IP to name a few. Students attending the 2 day course will be required to pass on line assessments to gain certification.

Who should attend?

This course is for D-Link Channel Partners and Resellers responsible for Selling/Recommending/Installing and Supporting D-Link networking products.

In addition:

- Channel Partners/Resellers who are new to D-Link Networking Products
- Channel Partners/Reseller who needs to understand the basics of network technology. Channel Partners/Reseller Network Administrators responsible for implementing and managing small to large business networks.
- Channel Partners/Reseller Network support staff who will act as network device installers and first-line support.

“This will be our 9th year of DCE and to date we have trained well over 1600 students,” said Maurice Famularo, Marketing Director D-Link Australia & New Zealand. “DCE offers real value for money compared to what others have on offer.
